DAILY MINYAN URGENT REQUEST

The morning and afternoon minyans are fragile and exist without a strong safety net of men to make a minyan if some of our regulars do not come. If you are observing the yahrzeit of a loved one and it falls on a day when we do not have a minyan you would be upset and rightly so. We need you not only when you are observing yahrzeit, but a few days each month to insure that someone else will be able to say kaddish. A few days each month is not too much to ask. By doing a mitzvah, you will be rewarded with a bigger mitzvah.

Please contact the Rabbi or the Center office with your name and phone number, and when and how often & what time (morning/afternoon?) you can commit.

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

Tishrei (/ˈtɪʃreɪ/ or Tishri) is the first month of the civil year (which starts on 1 Tishrei) and the seventh month of the ecclesiastical year (which starts on 1 Nisan) in the Hebrew calendar. The name of the month is Babylonian. It is an autumn month of 30 days.

Tishrei in Jewish history and tradition

1 Tishrei (c. 3760 BC) - Adam & Eve were created, according to one opinion in the Talmud.

3 Tishrei (c. 582 BC) - Assassination of Gedaliah; now a fast day. (According to many opinions, the assassination actually occurred on Rosh Hashanah, but the commemoration of the event is postponed to the day after the festival).

4 Tishrei (1683 AD) - King Louis XIV expelled the Jews from all French territories in America.

5 Tishrei (134 AD) - Rabbi Akiva tortured and executed.

8 Tishrei (c. 826 BC) - 14-day dedication of Solomon's Temple begins.

10 Tishrei (c. 1313 BC) - Moses returns from a final trip to Mount Sinai, bearing a second set of tablets and a message of forgiveness for the Golden Calf.

16 Tishrei (1349 AD) - The Jewish population of Krems, Germany, was massacred in the Black Death riots.

My household cleaning service is getting frustrated. A festival. And then another one. And following it, a semi-festival (Chol Hamoed), where only some activities are off-limits. And then again two days off all forms of work. "Can't you guys schedule your festivals in a more organized fashion?" It isn't much easier for us either. Cooking, grating, cleaning, baking, cleaning, peeling, peeling, and more peeling. And did I mention cleaning? So much work just to jam-pack the stomach with cholent, fish, meat, kugel, ice cream, salads and spirits (we're only mentioning necessities, okay?). Every day. Two or three times a day. And then next week all over again... My wallet and credit cards are also starting to kvetch under the strain. Loads of lamb shoulder steak, outfitting the entire family with matching outfits from head to toe, and front-wall seats in the synagogue get the bills skyrocketing in no time.

Couldn't the Master Planner of these holidays space them out a bit more, giving us a bit of time to breathe and recuperate before the next one? Looks like time management is not high on the list of priorities there. And then there is the concern of overdosing.

Here's the formal answer: The month of Tishrei is full of festivals, joy, and intensity; the following month, Cheshvan, does not even have one minor holiday. You need an extra super-duper dose of holiday spirituality to help get you through the dull, dry, festival-free month of Cheshvan. Somehow, this answer doesn't satisfy me. That sounds like really poor planning. Cram up all the major festivals in the first month of the year and then follow it with a vacuum -- a month devoid of any parties, new outfits and stomachaches. Feels like a spiritual roller-coaster ride. Couldn't the descent "back to earth" be gradual, avoiding unnecessary turbulence and a potential collision upon landing? Holiday Over-Dosage.

Having a festival in Cheshvan would be akin to hitting concrete pavement while hiking. The packing and planning in Tishrei, the first month of the year, is crucial to the success of our journey later on. Tishrei can be seen as the "head" of the year (the Hebrew letters of the word Tishrei can also spell the word "reishit," beginning and head).

Each of Tishrei's special days is another section of the "head" -- a source of strength and inspiration for all the following days throughout the year. Yet, the actual journey is done with the legs, or more correctly the heels (the least sensitive limb of the body), which takes its cue from the head. And it's only the heels that actually "goes places." Cheshvan is traveling time. To get the maximum experience out of our trip we need to stock up very well before we go, with food for the journey and some basic appliances -- i.e. acceptance of G-d's Sovereignty and awe of Heaven (Rosh Hashanah), teshuvah (Yom Kippur), joy and festivity (Sukkot), and dedication to Torah (Simchat Torah). But, then it's time for "real life" in the jungle. Having a festival in Cheshvan would be akin to hitting concrete pavement while hiking in the countryside. It ruins the experience. This is the time to put to use all our coping and camping skills. So let's stuff those overweight suitcases, eat to our full and write out fat checks -- loaded with sanctity, joy, commitment, resolutions and aspirations. But, remember: at the end of the month the bills need to be paid.

The festival of Rosh Hashanah—the name means “Head of the Year”—is observed for two days beginning on 1 Tishrei, the first day of the Jewish year. It is the anniversary of the creation of Adam and Eve, the first man and woman, and their first actions toward the realization of mankind’s role in G-d’s world. Rosh Hashanah thus emphasizes the special relationship between G-d and humanity: our dependence upon G-d as our creator and sustainer, and G-d’s dependence upon us as the ones who make His presence known and felt in His world.

Each year on Rosh Hashanah, “all inhabitants of the world pass before G-d like a flock of sheep,” and it is decreed in the heavenly court “who shall live, and who shall die . . . who shall be impoverished, and who shall be enriched; who shall fall and who shall rise.” But this is also the day we proclaim G-d King of the Universe.

The central observance of Rosh Hashanah is the sounding of the shofar, the ram’s horn, which also represents the trumpet blast of a people’s coronation of their king. The cry of the shofar is also a call to repentance, for Rosh Hashanah is also the anniversary of man’s first sin and his repentance thereof, and serves as the first of the “Ten Days of Repentance” which culminate in Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Another significance of the shofar is to recall the Binding of Isaac which also occurred on Rosh Hashanah, in which a ram took Isaac’s place as an offering to G-d; we evoke Abraham’s readiness to sacrifice his son, and plead that the merit of his deed should stand by us as we pray for a year of life, health and prosperity. Altogether, we listen to one hundred shofar blasts over the course of the Rosh Hashanah services.

Additional Rosh Hashanah observances include: a) Eating a piece of apple dipped in honey, to symbolize our desire for a sweet year, and other special foods symbolic of the new year’s blessings. b) Blessing one another with the words “Leshanah tovah tikateiv veteichateim,” “May you be inscribed and sealed for a good year.” c) Tashlich, a special prayer said near a body of water (an ocean, river, pond, etc.), in evocation of the verse, “And You shall cast their sins into the depths of the sea.” And as with every major Jewish holiday, after candle lighting and prayers we recite kiddush and make a blessing on the challah.

May you all have a wonderful New Year and may G-d grant you peace and happiness in the coming year.

Rabbi Romiel Daniel

1ST DAY OF ROSH HASHANAH

MEET IN FRONT OF THE REGO PARK JEWISH CENTER

AT 4:30 P.M.

TO WALK TOGETHER WITH RABBI ROMIEL DANIEL

FOCUS ON SISTERHOOD

“Three times a year shall you appear before the Lord....in the place that He will choose, on the festivals of Pesach, Shavu’ot and Sukkot. You shall not appear before the Lord empty handed. Each shall bring his own gift, appropriate to the blessing which the Lord, your G-d, has given you.”
D’varim 16: 13 -17

Sukkot celebrates the glory of the earth fulfilled; our ancestors relied on the sharing of skills to survive in the desert. In this season of plenty, we realize the fragility of the makeshift structure of the Sukkah. Each of us must reach out to help others. Service to others is a tiny bit of rent we must pay for living in this world so richly blessed by G-d.

Our first meeting in September was successful and enjoyable. After a lite lunch, our Rebbetzin, Noreen Daniel led us through a spiritual journey from the anxious anticipation of Elul to the introspective, meditative and reflective days of Rosh Hashanah, the Yamim Nora'im and finally Yom Kippur. She also explained some of the Sephardic customs, rituals and family traditions with which she grew up in India and still practices today. Rebbetzin Daniel then compared some of them to the Ashkenazie tradition which many of us are used to. We concluded the meeting by reading various excerpts from the lovely collection, “The Jewels of Elul” as well as individual remembrances and reminiscences from our ladies.

Our next meeting will be Chol Hamoed Sukkot on Wednesday, October 19th at 12:15 P.M., in the Sukkah. We shall combine this great day with Yiddish Vinkel – it will be very festive. We shall be sending you a letter with a tear off sheet – we shall be serving pizza. But due to the Yom Tovim the tear off reservation must be received by mail the latest on Friday, October 14th, or in person by 2:00 P.M. on Sunday, October 16th. Please note - we cannot accept or admit anyone without a written reservation by the above dates. No phone reservations.

On Sunday morning, December 11th, the Crystal Ballroom of the Rego Park Jewish Center was bright, beautiful and heart warming. Each of us had hers or his own memories and commemorations of the solemnity of the day. But then we honored and paid tribute to our own “Woman of Achievement”, Florence Cohen. She was our shining star, our inspiration for our campaign on behalf of the Jewish Theological Seminary, the Ziegler School of Rabbinic Studies, The Schechter Institute in Jerusalem, the Seminario in Argentina and now a Seminary in Germany. Thus we had a double Simcha to celebrate. It was a memorable event with accolades to Florence by Sisterhood, by Rabbi Daniel, by Florence’s dear family and friends. Our Torah Jewels were displayed on the beautiful blue velvet tablecloth surrounded by candles which were lit by the Benefactors. And thus we go on and fervently continue with our campaign – our dedication to education of rabbis, cantors, teachers and lay people to ensure and perpetuate Conservative Judaism. Our work continues with the inspiration of the 31st Psalm – the beloved Eishet Chayil – see the new Benefactor’s pin above – our gift to you. The new theme is P’RI YADEHA – The fruit of her hands. That is what we do and we continue to labor. Please see me if you wish to be a Benefactor or higher and we’ll take care of you.

Hannah Katz celebrated a special Birthday at the end of September – 105 years!!! May you continue to go from strength to strength and may G-d continue to bless you, and look out for you. We wish Rachel Kacenenbogen a speedy and complete recovery – stay well!

On Simchat Torah, when we complete the final Book of the Torah, and we immediately begin again, we shall say “Hazak”, be strong and let us strengthen one another. This is our hope and wish for each of us.

Hag Sameach,
Ruth Loewenstein

SUNDAY BREAKFAST CLUB & LEARN-IN WITH THE RABBI

Our first meeting of the season brought rave reviews from everyone in attendance, as Rabbi Daniel began a new discussion series which focuses on "The Names of G-d." (There are 72 in all.)

Starting with the first name for G-d in the Bible, Elohim (mentioned 35 times in the first two chapters), the Rabbi explained that each name depicts a particular characteristic of G-d.

Elohim represents G-d as the "strong creator" of heaven and earth, distinct and distant from his creation itself. He is above and outside.

Elohim is set apart from time. He preceded time and created it. He is everywhere, transcending space and matter). He exists with us in our space as well as outside. Omnipresent like air, but not limited like air. Part of eternity which existed before time.

Stressing Elohim's personal attributes, Rabbi Daniel explained that just as G-d interacted with Adam and Eve in Eden, he interacts with all his creations, and is ever present even when above and beyond us.

The belief in a strong creator who created something from nothing, the visible from the invisible, requires Faith on our part, a difficult and constant commitment.

To strengthen your relationship with G-d and all his attributes, join us in these interactive Sunday morning discussions.

We look forward to seeing you.

Elaine Spodick
